Red Cross Hears Of Urgent Need Of Blood Bank

Program Of National Organization Explained At Annual Meeting Here

COUNTY CHAPTER NAMES OFFICERS

Telling his audience of some 150 persons Wednesday night that the need for the American Red Cross blood bank is an urgent need today, Dr. George B. Dowling, deputy director of the plan, delivered the key address at the annual dinner-meeting of the Lawrence county chapter, in the Cathedral.

Dr. Dowling emphasized the fact that there is every justification for this large peacetime undertaking of the national organization—a project that, when it is put into operation, will prove one of the biggest helps to medicine in this area and all over the nation.

What Survey Reveals

The speaker pointed out a survey reveals that in general hospitals across the country five pints of blood are needed per bed each year. The process of fractionation, breaking down the blood to obtain valuable by-products, is now an established procedure and the multiple derivatives gotten are proving great help in curing and preventing many diseases.

Dr. Dowling told of the first use of blood from donors, when a Georgia physician turned to the Red Cross in 1937 for help to combat the rising amount of hemorrhage deaths among his patients. From this humble beginning the program grew into a giant project with the advent of World War II when whole blood and plasma were used in thousands of cases.

It was explained that the pro-

Several old time serenades were in progress in the county Wednesday evening, with the brides and grooms receiving the traditional open air ride on trailers and hay rigs. At least two couples in the North and in a few townships areas were given an "airing".

Safety Director Richard I. Davis today stated that all of the fire hydrants in the city are to be painted yellow. At present they are painted red. Mr. Davis is awaiting the arrival of the paint. Firemen will do the painting. There are several hundred fire hydrants.

Surface treatment work of the state highway department has been started in the vicinity of the Heins House Camp. It was reported today by Alfred Martin, county highway head. When the work is done there, the equipment will be moved to the vicinity of Pleasant Hill grange.

First mention of Purple Martins, graceful colony housing bird, has been received by Pa News from G. Philip Moore, R. D. 1. He reports that five or six pairs are nesting near his home, and are very active in early morning and evening. He also extends an invitation to any bird lovers to visit "his" birds.

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—A House GOP leader accused President Truman today of using Treasury funds to make "a political trip" across the nation.

Rep. Knutson of Minn., chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, declared that the President's cross-country swing, billed as non-political, is "a political trip, pure and simple."

Knutson is one of a group of Republicans on Capitol Hill who lashed out at Mr. Truman because he dubbed the GOP-controlled Congress "the worst" in history.

The Minnesota author of tax cut legislation which Congress enacted after three presidential votes, commented:

"We were given to understand that this was a non-political journey, the cost of which is being paid out of the Federal treasury.

"At the rate the President is going, the expense of the trip should be paid by the Democratic National committee because it's a political trip, pure and simple."

Mr. Truman told a western audi-

Hartley Declares Congress Should Stay In Session

Asserts Congress Must Not
Adjourn With Coal Strike
Threat Now Menacing

"GRIEVOUS ERROR TO QUIT SESSION"

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Rep. Hartley (R) N. J., called on congress today to scrap early adjournment plans and remain in session to deal with a threatened summer coal strike of John L. Lewis' 400,000 soft coal miners.

The co-author of the Taft-Hartley labor law declared that it is "obvious" that the current contract discussions between Lewis and the mine owners will lead only to a mine shutdown because the union chief "is not bargaining in good faith".

Expires June 30

The existing mine wage agreement expires June 30 and the miners June 26 to July 6 would wipe out the existing three-week stockpile of coal, adding:

"It would be a grievous error for the 80th congress to adjourn and leave the country at the mercy of the United Mine Workers, for in John L. Lewis there is no compassion."

Criminal To Adjourn

"It would be a criminal thing for this congress to adjourn sine die, without considering the dire effects of another coal strike".

The New Jersey legislator said he fears that the Taft-Hartley law, although it may be invoked against Lewis by President Truman, will not be sufficient to head off another coal production stoppage.

In the second day of court-order bargaining talks, Lewis offered to extend the current contract until a new pact is completed, if the mine owners would agree to put the 39-million-dollar UMW welfare fund into operation on its terms.

Industry negotiators promptly submitted a counter-proposal which spurned Lewis' peace offer.

Blast Damage In Pittsburgh $90,000

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—(INS)

Damage from an explosion that rocked the Squirrel Hill section of Pittsburgh was estimated today at $90,000 by Safety Director George E. Fairley.

The blast Wednesday afternoon injured 18 persons, at least two of them seriously, and shattered windows in the vicinity and ripped apart the Samson Buick Co. building.

City Building Inspector George Boileau said the explosion was caused by gas leaking from a main under the street in front of the building.

The Chief Executive, an overnight guest in Olympia of Gov. Mon Wallgren, close friend and former Senate colleague, will drive to the Navy yard at Bremerton today.

Then, crossing Puget Sound, he will make the third major prepared speech of his cross-country swing at the Memorial high school in Seattle at 2:30 p. m. (PDT).

Mr. Truman, who yesterday visited the mammoth Grand Coulee dam project, said at Wenatchee, Wash., yesterday afternoon that he is going to tell the country just where he stands on the subjects of power development, public ownership of utilities, reclamation, conservation and flood prevention.

Death Came Unexpectedly

Death, which resulted from a heart ailment and complication of other diseases, was unexpected.

However, Mrs. Schwellenbach was at her husband's bedside when he died. The secretary's wife was notified in the early hours of the morning that his condition had taken a grave turn, and was summoned to the hospital.

Mr. Truman, by coincidence, was

There are still a few persons to be heard from in the campaign, and it is expected that when returns are made from these people that the $15,000 goal of the department will have been reached.

A final report has been called for at the next meeting of the department, which will be held on Tuesday evening, June 15.

King Michael Is Married In Athens
To Princess Anne

ATHENS, June 10.—(INS)—Athens thrilled momentarily today to a bit of old world romance when Romania's King Michael took Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parme as his bride.

By his marriage vows the exiled Romanian monarch created a new queen—a queen who, temporarily at least, is without a throne.

Private as the marriage was in the Royal Palace of Athens where the youthful couple was joined in wedlock by Archbishop Damaskinos, the pageantry of the ceremony was reflected in the somber streets of the Greek capital.

The committee in charge is composed of Rev. J. Harold McCausland, Charles Henderson, Fern Gwin, James Nesbit and Thomas Gardner.

French And German Reaction To Six-Power Pact Causes Concern

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, June 10.—

United States officials are gravely concerned today over French and German reaction to the six-power agreement on control and development of occupied Germany.

Reports reaching Washington substantiated what already had been fairly sure—that France will react violently to the proposal.

They feel that, in view of the security guarantees contained in the agreement, France should have no fear that Germany will be prevented from becoming an aggressive military power again.

They contend that the resolution of Senator Vandenberg (R) Mich.

Want-Ad Romance Not Progressing Toward Marriage

Friends Of Danny Wicker Say He Doesn't Have $10,000; Doty Wants Her Dough

DAYTON BEACH, Fla., June 20.—(INS)—The want-ad romance of Mrs. Dorothy Lawlor, New York hat-check girl, and Dayton Beach tavern owner Danny Wicker remained a $10,000 question mark today.

Wicker said late yesterday while on the beach with the young divorcee who offered her hand in marriage for $10,000, that they would remain in Daytona Beach the remainder of the week instead of touring the state as originally planned.

"We're going to drive to Miami Sunday," Wicker said, but he admitted no reservations had been made for the trip and beyond that no other definite plans had been made.

Mrs. Lawlor declined to comment.

Feeling Somebody

Wicker declared that the question of money—as stipulated in her want-ad condition of marriage—had been discussed with Mrs. Lawlor. Friends of the bar owner, however, insist that Wicker does not have the $13,000 he offered, or even the $10,000 specified by the young woman.

Wicker said he gave Dorothy, whom he described as a clever girl, "once you get to know her," some money shortly after her arrival late Monday. He declined to say how much, however.

Danny termed Mrs. Lawlor a very good sport. "We've been out to dinner twice and she paid for the check both times."

BUREAU LABOR
SECRETARY DIES

In Schwellenbach's home state of Washington when he received word of the cabinet officer's passing. Schwellenbach was admitted to the hospital May 28, after he failed to make a recovery from a long series of illnesses which had beset him for several years.

Washington officials were unaware of the gravity of his condition.

Authorities at Walter Reed officially listed cardiac failure as the cause of death. He was 53 years of age.

Serves Since 1945

Schwellenbach had been secretary of labor since July 1, 1945. He was appointed by President Truman less than three months after the chief executive entered the White House and succeeded Miss Frances Perkins.

He was forced to cope with a greater variety of major labor disputes than any other secretary of labor in the nation's history.

The threatened railroad strikes of 1946 and 1948, the coal mine strikes of John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, and similar near-disastrous walkouts in the automobile and other key industries confronted him in distressing sequence.

Schwellenbach, only 50 when he took office, aged noticeably as he came to grips with the series of labor troubles which threatened to hamstring the nation's reconversion from wartime to peacetime economy.

The White House said funeral services for the cabinet member will be announced later.

Dixie Revolt'

May Collapse

ATLANTA, Ga., June 10.—(INS)—A sudden collapse of the "Dixie Revolt" against the national Democratic party, followed by an effort to make a "face saving compromise" seemed to be shaping up to-day.

Leaders of the south's so-called rebellion have admitted privately that their stock is sinking. Authoritative sources at Jackson, Miss., informed International News Service that the steering committee of states' rights Democrats may try to make its peace with the national party before the July 12 convention at Philadelphia.

In View Of News Of The World

By J. C. Ostreicher, INS Foreign Director

The spread of Arab-Jewish fighting into French Morocco which caused a heavy toll of dead served to emphasize the necessity for speed in working out a compromise peace in Palestine.

There are indications that United Nations mediator Count Folke Bernadotte took this menacing development into consideration in his last talks with Arab leaders in Cairo.

The hostilities in Palestine itself had the advantage—if the word is not completely out of place—of being organized.

There were set battle-lines and while reports of "massacres" and various outrages have reached the outside world, both Israelis and Arabs in the Holy Land seemed more or less to be abiding by the laws of war as laid down in the Geneva convention.

Where Danger Lies

Great danger, however, lies in the possibility of inflamed spirits leading to a general conflagration such as has occurred on so many occasions in India, with bloody communal riots between Hindus and Moslems or attempted wars of extermination against the British.

The Moroccan trouble apparently stemmed from a simple argument between an Arab and a Jew over the fighting in Palestine. Probably in a crowded bazaar or at a community well.

In most areas of Africa and the Middle East, Jews and Arabs long have lived in comparative harmony. They argue and bargain in the bazaars. But except for religious differences and customs, the habits and behavior of both are not greatly apart.

Carry Deadly Knives

However, there is probably not a single Arab of adult age who lacks a deadly knife and that most often is his most treasured possession.

Many of these thin, razor-sharp weapons can be traced back to original ownership by the French Foreign Legion. Despite strict regulations, Foreign Legionnaires sometimes have sold their bayonets, which can be made into daggers.

Lacking these, the Arabs have a remarkable facility for making beautiful daggers and dirks from almost any sort of steel. Damascus centuries ago earned its enviable reputation for the finest swords in all the world.

On occasions too frequent to enumerate, primitive passions have flared into bloody riots. Desecrations and dismemberment. Desert Jews and Arabs can haggle from dawn to sunset over the price of a sheep, exchanging carefully phrased insults that are regarded by both sides as jewels of speech.

But let there be a real offense, an angry slur upon honor of a violation of sacred custom and all restraint goes to the wind. The United Nations may be able to control the battle for Palestine. It can not yet overcome the deep-seated animosities of three thousand years.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

Here is something I have never been able to understand about Americans.

Our whole history is based upon equality, disdain of class and caste differences, and the glory of the workman's dinner pail.

We paid a terrific price for freeing ourselves from kings and dukes and everything for which they stood.

Now we are free. Now the humble street cleaner, theoretically at least, is just as good as the most high-born nobleman.

Now, here in America, "every man is a king," as Huey Long used to say, and as his brother, the new Governor of Louisiana, maintains at every picnic and clam-bake.

So what do we do?

We go crazy about every kind of phony nobility that comes to this country.

We make asses of ourselves over a lot of shabby ex-royalty, and we become suckers for every princeling and dueling and countling who comes to our shores either to make propaganda for his restoration or to mooch on us, or both.

But more than that—

Did you read the interviews with the 32 Americans who were presented to the King and Queen of England at their recent party at Buckingham Palace?

Why, they were as excited as if they had won one of the grand prizes at the Irish sweepstakes or as if one of their dogs had won the "best of show" award at the Westminster Kennel show!

Most of the people presented to "Their Majesties" were intelligent people, people of achievement, of wealth, of social standing. (How ironical that sounds in a supposed-to-be democratic country!)

Yet, they curtsied and they kowtowed and they were almost speechless with delight and excitement.

"The King and Queen spoke to us," said one of the guests from America, "but I was so excited I couldn't remember what they said."

Another remarked to the reporter that, because the Queen unexpectedly shook hands with her and her daughter, she was "most impressed by the delightful friendliness."

How utterly ridiculous! And probably more ridiculous to the King and Queen than to anyone else.

Those two royal people are two plain, simple, rather scared human beings sitting on a shaky throne, playing their parts and playing them well.

I don't think that they are kidding themselves for a minute—and sometimes I wonder whether they don't envy all those people who curtsy to them, and wish that they were in their places.

There isn't really anything very serious about this American trait of royalty-worship.

It's no more serious than the tremendous interest we take in a movie star's fourth or fifth or sixth wedding to a millionaire who has also been married several times before, but who is absolutely, positively and definitely sure that this time it's for keeps.

We haven't a whole lot of pomp and circumstance in our everyday lives, so all this stuff for which we fall so easily is something of "Alice in Wonderland" or a fairy tale.

Some day, I think, we'll all grow up.

But I do hope that day is far away.

Childhood is so delightful.

BIBLE THOUGHT

I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord; for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith.—Philippians 3:8, 9.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FISHING TRIP GOOD FOR FATHER, SON

About the fondest memory I have of my father is when one day early in the spring, he went fishing with me. I must have been about ten. We went fishing for suckers in a creek more than a mile from home.

I don't remember whether we got any fish or not. What stands out is the ecstasy I enjoyed when he announced we would go fishing, his spading in the garden and my picking up the worms, getting ready the lines and poles and our setting off. I carrying the can of worms and, like a puppy, running ahead and waiting till my father would catch up as we climbed the long steep hill across the field, or cut through the strip of woods and then down the hill to the creek. I remember our unwinding the lines and my getting my line tangled in the underbrush and father reminding me to be very still.

Fishing Trips

Well, I have had many a delightful fishing trip with my own children and even with my very young grandchildren, ten of them now, not all old enough to fish.

The son whose father goes fishing with him often is fortunate indeed. Or the daughter. Still more fortunate when Mother also goes. Going fishing is not so easy for most city families as most farm families, except on the sea coasts or by lakes. Farm families in many places are near fishing streams. To me, fishing by a small stream has the greatest lure, even though the fish may be few and hard to get. There is fun for children there, too.

But year by year fewer and fewer small streams are open for fishing. More and more of them are being posted. So year by year fewer children can go fishing with their parents. Why are so many streams, especially brook trout streams, which are so fascinating to boys and their dads being posted? Because some dads and their children and other fishermen are not good citizens. They have left the farmer's gates open, broken down his fences, trampled upon his crops, and built dangerous and destructive fires. So in self-defense many farmers have put up signs forbidding fishing on their property.

Every father who goes fishing with his son or daughter along the streams owes it to all people who like to fish, to the property owners along the streams and, most of all, to the Sesqui Committee for a day or two . . . They will not leave New Castle . . . and very excellent care will be taken to preserve them and have them returned without any disfiguring.

On Playing Fields Of "Eatin'"

Indian Had Bad Press

By PAUL GALlico

MANTEO, N. C., June 10.—The American Indian has had a very bad press. When I was a kid, I seem to remember reading in my schoolbooks about the bloodthirsty savages and treacherous redskins, and the trials of the early settlers. Well, that isn't the way the Masters Philip Amadas and Arthur Barlowe told it with regard to the Indians they found inhabiting this Island (Roanoke) when they arrived here in 1584.

Writing to Sir Walter Raleigh who organized and put up the money for the expedition of two barks, the two Captains said of the natives: "We found the people most gentle, loving and faithful, void of all guile and treason, and such as live after the manner of the golden age. We were entertained with all love and kindness but as much bounty (after their manner) as they could possibly devise."

Something Had Happened

This, mind you, was upon the occasion of the first visit ever made by any white men to these shores. Only a few years later, the redskin was attacking and killing the early colonists. Something had happened in the brief intervening time to sour his gentle and loving disposition. The betting is six, two and even that it was the behavior of the white men. However, it was the palefaces who wrote the history books and I gather they did not give themselves any the worst of it.

The kindly and unspoiled natives having discovered that there was no future for them in these visits of men from over the seas, colonization became a hazardous affair. In 1587, Sir Walter Raleigh sent a colony of 117 persons, including 17 women and 9 children, to Fort Roanoke which is just above the present town of Manteo, at the north tip of this island.

And it was the vanishing of this colony that gave rise to the mystery that still enthralls and baffles historians and visitors to this section of the country alike. For when Governor John White returned here three years later he found the fort deserted, and no member of the colony was ever seen again.

That Didn't Happen

It would be simple to say that the Indians massacred the entire colony, except that that isn't what happened. First of all, the Indians were not of the massacring kind, no matter how much they were tried by the behavior of the whites, and secondly there was found carved in an oak tree at the fort the single word "CROATAN," which seemed to indicate that beset by the so-called savages, the colonists had abandoned the fort and gone to the neighboring island of Croatan where the natives' patience had not yet been so sorely tried by the ways of the paleface.

Governor White wished to go to Croatan to look for the survivors, but one of those wild northeasters, for which the Cape Hatteras region is famous, blew up and he was lucky to get back to England with his skin. Later, on five separate expeditions year after year, sailed from England to search for the lost colonists and failed to find the slightest trace of them. Not on Croatan island, or anywhere else, for that matter. They had vanished into thin air, or as most people think, inland to be assimilated by the tribes that unquestionably had captured them. The men they might have put to death, but the women and children they would have spared and kept.

Nearest To Solution

The nearest to a solution lies in the researches made into the history of an Indian tribe in Robeson County, another section of North Carolina. Many of these descendants had gray eyes and Caucasian features. The first national census, which was made in the year 1790, revealed that of a total of 95 names in the roster of the lost colony, 54 recurred among the Robeson County Indians. Mr. Frank Stick who conducted these researches also discovered that the descendants of these Indians, in their colloquial speech also had preserved words and grammatical forms common in 1587. Thus the colonists might well have been captured and assimilated by the tribe. But there were no signs of a battle having taken place around the old fort. No genuine proof of any kind of what became of them is available.

JOB UPON A TIME

The World and the Mud Puddles

WHY SOME ESCAPE

Requests for appropriations for the Internal Revenue Bureau have touched off in Congress a small tornado of criticism of the alleged inefficiency and questionable practices of a large number of Collectors of Internal Revenue throughout the country. Source of these evils, according to the bureau's critics, is the fact that Internal Revenue Collectors appointments are political rather than based on ability and integrity. It is no secret, of course, that such appointments have been regarded primarily as political plums. It is contemplated by members of the Appropriations committee of the House that this practice leaves the commissioner without adequate control over revenue collections.

Report Mismanagement

Reports presented by the investigators of the committee cite instances of mismanagement or worse in internal revenue offices in Hartford, Conn.; Wilmington, Del.; Newark, N. J.; St. Louis, Portland, Dallas, New Orleans, and even in the Washington office itself. The collection of federal taxes, of course, is a function of primary importance. That should be clouded by inefficiency or favoritism is nothing unusual, but the millions who are deriving themselves to pay these taxes for the support of government certainly are entitled to capable and honest service. The House Committee is right in demanding that this vital task be removed from politics and placed on a square basis of civil service.

WASHINGTON — Rep. Wolcott (R) Mich. . . . "I think public housing is socialist in its concept . . . We have fought successfully since 1935 all attempts to socialize different segments of our economy."

IDAHO FALLS, Ida.—President Truman . . . "I have asked Congress to work toward water irrigation to this arid area . . . I didn't get much response. But maybe I can wake Congress up on this trip."

NEW YORK — Dr. Oscar Klinner, personal physician to President Edward Benes. "Ill health had nothing to do with Dr. Benes' resignation. He was deeply depressed over the Communist seizure of power in his homeland."

WASHINGTON — Sen. Morse (R) Ore. . . . "The country was being oversold on military requests. The draft should be an issue in the coming election."

A recent analysis of U. S. Navy personnel figures shows that over 40% of the present Regular Navy officers are former enlisted men.

SAMUEL—THE MAN WHO "SPOKE OUT"

Samuel.

"And Samuel said, Hath the Lord as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the Lord?"—1 Samuel 15:22.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
What the world needs most in these days of confused thinking is men who not only think our problems through clearly, but who are not afraid to speak out, frankly, truthfully, without fear or favor.

We need leaders—men of vision, with understanding and sympathy for the needy and oppressed, with far-sighted wisdom to direct what should be done to relieve their sufferings.

Samuel, Hebrew prophet of God, was such a man. The first child of a deeply religious mother, who had prayed to God with tears for such a son, he was taken to the priest who had comforted her in her grief, when he was still a small child, and dedicated to his service and that of the Lord.

Samuel's mother, Hannah, and his father, Elkanah, took him to Eli and left him there to be brought up.

When Eli was old and was out of favor with the Lord because he could not restrain his wicked sons, the word came to Samuel that Eli's house should fall and God would raise up a prophet of his own to take his place. Samuel told Eli frankly what the Lord had said, and Eli was resigned.

After that everyone knew that Samuel was God's prophet and judge of Israel—a position he held all his life.

In last week's lesson we read of the terrific battles of the Israelites against their old enemies, the Philistines, and of the latter's capture of the sacred Ark of the Covenant. The Ark did the Philistines no good; in fact it brought them great misfortune, so they returned it to the Israelites. At this time the Hebrews were worshiping strange gods, and Samuel frankly told them that if they wanted the Lord to protect them and to deliver them from their enemies, they must turn to Him "with all your hearts".

The people put their false gods away from them, and when the Philistines again attacked, they asked Samuel to pray to the Lord for them unceasingly, as they were afraid. Samuel prayed and offered sacrifices, the Lord heard him, and the Israelites won the battle.

Samuel grew to be an old man and, strangely enough, his two sons, Joel and Abiah, also judges in Israel, did not follow in their father's footsteps, but like the sons of Eli before him, were wicked men, taking bribes and perverting their judgments for money. The elders of Israel came together and told Samuel that he was old, his sons were not good men, and they had decided that what they needed was a king to rule over them.

Now Israel, since the foundation of the nation, had been a pure theocracy. That is, the Israelites were ruled directly by God. Who spoke through the mouths of prophets.

The world has had a number of quasi-theocracies in which the rulers, while human beings, were believed by their subjects, to be semi-divine. Ancient Egypt and the empire of the Incas are examples. The Japanese, until recently, believed their emperor was actually descended from a sun goddess.

Samuel did not like the idea of a king, but the Lord told him to listen to the people, tell them about the disadvantages of a king to judge them, and if they insisted, to give them a king whom He would choose.

In spite of Samuel's objections and warnings of the dire results that might follow the naming of a king, the people demanded one. Samuel chose, under the Lord's direction, Saul, son of Kish, a noble young man. Samuel anointed Saul and the people accepted him as their ruler.

In the early years of his reign, Saul obeyed the Lord and overcame the enemies of his people, but at last he, while pretending to Samuel that he had done as the Lord wished, really disobeyed His command in part, and the Lord told Samuel that He rejected Saul as king.

Saul pleaded with Samuel to forgive him and take him back into favor, but Samuel, knowing that he was sincere only for the moment, told Saul, "I will not return with thee: for thou hast rejected the word of the Lord, and the Lord hath rejected thee from being king over Israel."

As Samuel turned to go away, Saul grasped hold of his robe and it tore, and Samuel said, "The Lord hath rent the kingdom of Israel from thee this day, and hath given it to a neighbor of thine, that is better than thou." After that the kingdom of Israel was split and Saul reigned over only one part.

"And Samuel came no more to see Saul until the day of his death; nevertheless Samuel mourned for Saul."

City Health SuperintendentIRON LUNG

Infantile paralysis seems to scare people worse than any other disease does.

It is easy to collect money to buy an iron lung.

Every facility is provided for the care of the victims.

This is as it should be. For every patient who needs an iron lung there are hundreds who recover without any treatment. They have such slight symptoms that they do not know they have the disease.

If we could stir up as much interest in some other diseases maybe we could get somewhere.

Obesity and diabetes cause far more trouble than infantile paralysis.

They do not cause much excitement.

the grinding has been loud and all through this confused session. It is shriller now as the special interests press in in hopes of a last-minute kill. Thus the grazing interests in the West have tossed in a bill that would open the public lands to disastrous exploitation by greatly increased herds.

In many ways the most serious sign of irresponsibility and demoralization is the action of the House in slashing the foreign relief appropriation. This act made it clear that the leaders of the House—Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Majority Leader Charles A. Halleck, Representatives Clarence J. Brown of Ohio—have not really accepted the necessity for American responsibility and American

If we could get a generation or two of children educated well in these directions, more streams would soon be available and stocks with trout and other fish, when these children thirty years hence could go fishing with their own children. Naturally, streams which are posted are not stocked with fish.

Damage Suit
For Two Million
Against Taylor

(BULLETIN)

CHICAGO, June 10.—(INS)—A two million dollar damage suit filed in federal court in Chicago today asks that Myron C. Taylor, special White House envoy to the Vatican, be named father of a 36-year-old Chicago woman.

The plaintiff, Mrs. Eunice Waternman, claims she was born out of wedlock on June 25, 1912, in Lebanon hospital, New York, and is the child of Taylor and Mrs. Margaret Nicholas, New York.

Named co-defendant with Taylor was Joseph A. Bennett, a close friend of Taylor. The petition said Bennett persistently had attempted to "cover up" the alleged alliance between Taylor and Mrs. Nicholas, the former Margaret Klotz.

The suit said that Mrs. Nicholas lived with Taylor, unaware that he was married.

C.I.O. To Seek
Test Of Law
On Affidavits

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—(INS)—The CIO United Steelworkers are determined to test the constitutionality of the anti-communist affidavit section of the Taft-Hartley law.

The union disclosed Wednesday that it would attack the anti-communist section of the law following a day-long meeting of the 41-man executive board in Pittsburgh.

The law, passed last June 22, requires labor union officials to sign affidavits asserting they are not communists. Unions that refuse to comply are denied the facilities of the national labor relations board.

Steelworker President Phillip Murray, who is also president of the CIO, has stated that he would not sign because he felt that section of the law abridged civil rights.

The union will file its test case in Chicago and reportedly will ask the court to provide a hearing at an early date in order to speed the case to the United States supreme court for a possible fall decision.

FORREST-GARTLAND
CEREMONY QUIET

Miss Ruth E. Forrest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Forrest, of 488 Florence avenue, and Harry H. Gartland, son of Mrs. John Gartland, of 23 North Meridian road, Youngstown, O., and the late Mr. Gartland, were united in marriage at a quiet ceremony in Epworth Methodist church at 11:30 o'clock Wednesday morning. Rev. Geo. R. D. Braun officiated.

Miss Bette Ruth Forrest, niece of the bride, was the only attendant.

Immediately following the ceremony the couple left on a wedding trip by car to an undisclosed destination. Upon their return they will be at home in an apartment on West Glen Aven avenue, Youngstown.

Gayette Club To Meet
Gayette club will assemble in the 2100 room of the South Mill Street, this evening, when Mrs. Samuel Angelo and Mrs. Anthony Croach will be hostesses.

The group enjoyed a dinner and theater party recently at the New Penn hotel. Mrs. Angelo was responsible for arrangements.

MCKEE-HEASLEY
CHURCH NUPTIALS

First Baptist church was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday evening, June 8, at 7:30 o'clock, when Miss Mary Ruth McKee was united in marriage to Bruce M. Heasley. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andley McKee, New Castle, R. D. 3, while the groom is the son of Andrew Heasley, 717 Brooklyn avenue. Using the double ring service, Rev. Oliver W. Hurst officiated at the open church ceremony which was performed by candlelight.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attractive in an ivory satin gown, fashioned with fitted bodice, sweetheart neckline, long sleeves, which tapered at the wrist, and a long train. She wore a finger tip veil and carried an arm bouquet of white rose-buds. Her jewelry was a double strand of pearls, gift of the groom.

Miss Sallie Cotton, New Willing, served as maid of honor. She was attired in a yellow taffeta gown with matching headress and carried an arm bouquet of mixed summer flowers. Mrs. Howard Bratz and Miss Nellie Doutt, Wampum, dressed respectively in pale blue and pink frosted maline gowns, acted as bridesmaids. They wore matching headresses and carried arm bouquets of mixed flowers.

Robert Johnson served as best man for the groom, while Wesley Fombell and Howard Bratz were ushers.

The ceremony was performed before an altar, tastefully decorated with palms, ferns and snapdragons, and lighted with tapers in seven-branched candelabra. Nuptial organ music was offered by Mrs. W. H. Lukart, who accompanied Walter Lukart, soloist, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following a congratulatory period at the church, guests, numbering 75, were entertained at a reception in the home of the bride, where Mrs. William Fulman, Miss Donna Reynolds, Miss Lena Cover, Mrs. Nettie Gardner and Mrs. Chester Cover acted as aides.

Upon returning from a motor trip to an undisclosed destination, the young couple will be at home to friends after June 15, at 717 Brooklyn avenue.

Mrs. Heasley is a nurse at the Jameson Memorial hospital, while her husband is employed at the Valley Motor Freight company.

Seventh WardWard Playground
Will Open FridaySummer Recreation For Children
Again Under Supervision Of Miss Jean Wallace

Announcement is made that the annual summer playground project on the Mahoning school grounds, sponsored by the City Recreation Board, will commence operations on Friday morning at 9 o'clock.

The playground and its activities will again this year be under the capable supervision of Miss Jean Wallace.

For 2:30 in the afternoon Miss Wallace has planned a surprise feature, which will be of interest to all. A well rounded program has been prepared for this season.

of the Madison Avenue Christian church were entertained on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. The devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Russel McConnell.

The business session was in charge of Mrs. C. J. Bernhart. It was decided to adjourn further meetings until September.

Sewing and crocheting were the pastime of the afternoon.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, aided by her co-hostesses, Mrs. Frank Rheinhart and Mrs. Alice Bevan.

In charge of arrangements were Mrs. R. L. Mann, Mrs. George Nolte and Mrs. Samuel DePiero.

Meetings of the group have been adjourned until the annual basket picnic at Cascade park on August 11.

Sheep Acquire New Look' Too

Census Shows 4,378 Sheep
On 205 Lawrence County
Farms in 1945

CLIPPING WORK WELL UNDER WAY

"Poor little lamb" is no longer a good connotation for pity. Sheep have come up in the world. They go to school, for didn't one follow Mary, and wasn't it a sheep (or lamb) that made Yale famous? Sheep even have their census taken.

And for proof, the sheep census, as of January 1, 1945, amounted to 4,378 sheep on 205 farms in Lawrence county. Most farmers of Lawrence county do not have more than 100 sheep on their farms, and many of them have less.

Yearly Shearing

There is still one thing that sheep, no matter how modern they become, will still have to undergo,
and that is the yearly spring shearing.

Even that has become modernized, and is no longer the tedious task it was years ago.

Before shearing, the sheep are herded into a pen so that they can easily be caught and taken to the shearer. And they don't go without quite a bit of persuasion.

Electric Clippers

Hand shearing has given way to the use of electric clippers, which are attached to a series of wires, which resemble the apparatus of a dentist's drill, except that instead of a drill there are clippers.

The record held for clipping sheep via electricity is about two minutes, not greatly different from the hand shearing record.

Average time for shearing a sheep with electric clippers is ten minutes, about half the time needed for shearing by hand.

Foreign Influence

With this so-called drawing together of the world by transportation and communication, the poor sheep have come under the foreign influence. No longer are they clipped in the good old American way; they receive the Australian method of shearing.

The sheep are turned over on their backs, and the clippers start at their chins and go down their bellies, giving the animal the appearance, and probably the feeling, of being unzipped. Clippers then remove the wool from the legs, go up the left side and down the right, finishing up on the right hip.

The New Look

When sheep are turned loose after being clipped, they often do not know one another, and lambs dash wildly about, not recognizing their mothers, either by appearance or by smell.

If you think your wife looks funny in her new spring outfit, how do you suppose the poor sheep feels about his wife?

Junior Kiwanians Bid Club Farewell

Cliff Rowland And Dick McClurg Give Club Their Impressions Of Kiwanians

New Castle Kiwanians club members said farewell to Cliff Rowland and Dick McClurg, who have been the two high school seniors who have sat in with the club during the past few months as Junior Kiwanians, at the noon luncheon meeting on Wednesday in The Cattetton.

The two Junior Kiwanians thanked the club for their interest in providing this extra-curricular activity for them, and in addressing the club, the two young men spoke frankly about how much their association with Kiwanis has meant to them. They were presented with the plaque, which the club gives its departing Junior Kiwanians, and the Kiwanis certificate, which is presented to every speaker who appears before the club.

The East Brook F. F. A. held its first monthly summer meeting at the high school Tuesday evening.

It was decided to send a judging team to the three-state field day to be held at the Hillcrest Farm, Chester, W. Va., on June 19. There will be F. F. A., 4-H and farmer judging teams at this event from Ohio, West Virginia and western Pennsylvania.

Walter Lysiak, Robert Hawthorne, Arthur Rote, Donald Smith, Harold McConnell and Bob Pottius left Wednesday morning with their adviser, Howard F. Fox, for Penn State where the state F. F. A. judging contests are taking place. The next meeting date was set for July 19 at 8 p. m.

As entertainment for the evening members saw the new F. F. A. film entitled "That inspiring task", produced by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Snuff was first used for its medicinal properties in clearing the head, as a curative of certain diseases, sores, wounds and as a restorative of physical and mental energy.

"Savonnerie" or "soap" tapestry gets its name from the fact that looms were set up by Louis XII in what had been an old soap factory on the outskirts of Paris. The material has a deep pile, like that of an Oriental rug. A suite of wall hanging, sofa and four chairs of this material was recently acquired by the Cleveland Museum of Art.

Lawrence County Farm, Home News

Extension Representative Lewis C. Payne, Agriculture, and Miss Emmeline McPherson, Home Economics.

PREVENTION IS BEST "CURE" FOR RICKETS

Like the old fallacy about locking the stable after the horse is stolen, treating calves for rickets after they have them is not the same as preventing the disease.

A nutritional disease, rickets results from a deficiency of vitamin D. The animal is unable to store sufficient mineral in the bones and they get soft. The bones bend under the weight of the animal, causing bowed legs, knock knees, crooked back, low loin, dropped tail, head and depression behind the withers. These conditions are rather common on many Lawrence county farms.

Once these deformities occur they cannot be corrected. To prevent rickets, supply vitamin D in the calf ration in the form of irradiated yeast (1 1/2 pounds per ton of grain) until the calves are 10 months old.

Don't wait until rickets occur before starting to use vitamin D because much damage that cannot be repaired may be done before the rickets are observed. Once they occur, the feeding of any amount of vitamin D can only arrest deformities, and they will persist for life although added growth may make them less noticeable.

Hay is a natural source of vitamin D, but unless this is of excellent quality, yeast mixed with the grain feed may be necessary.

EQUIPMENT FOR SEWING BOX

A box, neatly filled with all the equipment you will need for sewing, will save you time throughout sewing sessions this summer. This suggestion is given to homemakers as well as 4-H club members.

You may want to have two boxes, one large enough to hold the garment you are making and a small one for sewing equipment. Your small sewing box should contain pins, a pin cushion, needles, scissors, thimble and a tape measure.

Buy needles with sharp points, keep them in the black paper in which they come. The black chemically treated paper prevents rust and if the package is kept closed the needles will stay shiny.

Get a thimble that fits snugly on your middle finger. It is most economical to buy dressmaker pins by the quarter-pound. Select sharp ones so pinning will be easier and will not damage the fabric.

Certain your scissors are sharp. Quality scissors that cut smoothly and easily from the heel to the points of the blades are usually expensive. Take good care of them. Label them with your name. Print your name on adhesive tape and stick it on the handle, or write it on a strip of white fabric and tie it to the handle.

If you need a new tape measure, choose one that has numbers printed on both sides and that starts with number one on the opposite sides and ends. With this tape measure, you can start measuring with whichever end you pick up first.

WAYS SUGGESTED FOR COOKING OF GREEN VEGETABLES

Cook your fresh green vegetables only until they are tender. If you overcook them, they will lose much of their food value and fresh flavor.

Cook the vegetables in about a half-cup of water in a covered pan. Any liquid left after you cook the vegetables may be used in gravies and soups.

In cooking spinach, use only the water which clings to the leaves after the spinach has been washed. Cook the spinach from 5 to 10 minutes.

To cook kale, strip the green leaves from the ribs and cook them in a small amount of water for 10 to 15 minutes. Swiss chard also requires very little water and will cook in 5 to 10 minutes. Beet tops require little water and will be tender in 10 to 15 minutes.

Cooking asparagus is an art. Try to have the tough stalks of the asparagus in the water and the tips out of the water. This will keep the tips from becoming overdone. To cook the asparagus this way, tie the stalks in a bunch. Put enough water in the bottom of the double boiler to cover the bottom

in a pan. Prop the tips out of the water with jar lids. Cover the pan and cook the vegetable until it is just tender.

Another way to cook asparagus is to lay it in an inch of water in a pan. Prop the tips out of the water with jar lids. Cover the pan and cook the vegetable until it is just tender.

One-half of Japan's arable land is devoted to rice production. Coonicut Island of the state of Rhode Island, is situated at the mouth of Narragansett bay. It is about eight miles long by one mile wide and comprises the township of Jamestown.

Moulders Union Near Agreement At U.E. Plant
 Progress in the formation of the contract between the United Engineering and Foundry company and the moulders' union was reported today. A meeting of the moulders was held Wednesday night, at which time the proposed contract was considered. Some 15 points were taken up and agreement was reached for the most part. One point remains to be agreed upon before a contract can be negotiated, it is said, and this point is expected to be cleared at the next meeting, which will be Sunday.

Following the tour the members will return to the chapter's club.

Sharks have a big commercial value, as leather is made from the skin, oil produced from the liver, glue is made from the head, and the bones are used in making fertilizer.

Question: My fiance has purchased a new home for us. (We will be married soon.) It is completely furnished with the exception of cooking utensils and linens. Should I remind him of these items or must I supply them?

Answer: It is your duty to supply these. It is the least you can do.

Good Taste
By FRANCINE MARREL— CARELESS TALK —
There is a valuable maxim few of us consider and most of us should bring to mind daily: "Don't talk until you think."

We are prone to say things thoughtlessly that hurt, irritate or embarrass others. If we only stop to think before speaking, few of us would be guilty of unkind statements that make us unpopular. If we thought beforehand, we would never be guilty of such blunt statements as "you are wrong" when someone with whom we disagree speaks. Think first and you will, instead, courteously say "Perhaps you are right, but I think so and so..." This technique should be adopted even when you know you are right and other person is wrong. It is far better to let an error pass than commit a worse one with your rudeness. Courteous people are never too definitely emphatic in their opinions.

Express yourself, certainly, but with restraint and consideration for those whose opinions differ from your own.

Unless you are having a conversation with intimate friends, avoid controversial subjects, such as religion and politics. And if you find yourself talking to someone whose views are completely opposed to your own, try to turn the conversation into more agreeable topics.

To quote Jonathan Swift: "One of the best rules of conversation is never to say a thing which any one of the company can reasonably wish we had left unsaid."

Question: My fiance has purchased a new home for us. (We will be married soon.) It is completely furnished with the exception of cooking utensils and linens. Should I remind him of these items or must I supply them?

Answer: It is your duty to supply these. It is the least you can do.

GETTING ALONG WITH YOUR MOTHER-IN-LAW

"My sister has been married for five years and has developed mother-in-law trouble. She says her husband's mother is very possessive, and as a result is ruining her marriage. Soon I am to be married and would like some advice on avoiding these pitfalls. Can you help me?"

Answer: I don't know who said it, but it is certainly true: "A daughter is a daughter all her life; but a son is a son 'till he takes a wife."

Why is it that so many daughters-in-law are resentful of their husbands' natural affection and consideration for their mothers? If you try to make a friend of your husband's mother instead of an enemy, your problems will be solved, unless she is unreasonable and unfriendly.

Make the first overtures to her because as a general rule the man's mother is so afraid of intruding that she might seem aloof. The daughter-in-law holds the key to the situation. Mothers realize that whether they lose a son or gain a daughter depends upon whether they are accepted by the new daughter-in-law.

Treat her with the affection she deserves. Show her gratitude and she will be your friend for life. Most mother-in-law dissension is caused by the wife's jealousy over her husband's love for his mother and his mother's influence over him.

Intelligent women realize the futility of this waste of emotion and control of it, if they cannot entirely obliterate it.

"When I send a gift, is it correct for me to inclose my personal, engraved card bearing my full name 'Miss Mary Jones'?" It occurs to me that this is rather a formal, cold way to send a gift to a friend who calls me by my Christian name. Tell me what to do."

Answer: Formal, engraved cards are, indeed, correctly used for this purpose. To add a personal flavor, you might write a message fitting the occasion — "Good wishes," "congratulations," "pleasant journey" or whatever happens to be appropriate.

Draw a line through the "Miss" and an intimate friend you might also cross off the "Smith" leaving merely "Mary" along with your message.

When a card is sent to a mere acquaintance, send the card with nothing crossed off. This procedure of crossing out parts of your card should be followed only when sending a personal message to a very intimate friend and only for such informal purposes as outlined. On visiting card invitations, even to your intimate friends, leave the formality intact.

sions of the United Presbyterian church, speaking. His subject will be "The Sound of the Trumpet". Friday night will be a preparatory service with Dr. J. Paul Graham of the Third United Presbyterian church of New Castle as the speaker. His subject will be "Happy Is That People".

Homecoming Day

Saturday, June 19, will be Homecoming Day with a basket with Dr. J. I. Moore, synodical superintendent of Missions, First Synod of the West, officiating. In the evening Dr. Robert F. Galbreath, pastor of First Presbyterian church of New Castle, will speak on "The Church for Such an Hour".

Religious Landmark

Bethel U. P. church is a landmark in the religious life of this county. It was established at the time John Carlyle Stewart founded what is now New Castle. It was organized in 1798 as the Little Beaver church under the authority of the Associate Presbytery of Pennsylvania. The church was first located on the Sefton farm now owned by Samuel G. Duncan. About 1804 or 1805 the church building was removed to its present site.

Bethel church has had a rich experience in the field of religious service. The first pastor was the Reverend James Duncan, was the second student of theology licensed in America by the Associate Church. He was ordained and installed in 1800 by Chartiers Presbytery as pastor of the Mahoning, Darlington and Bethel churches. The second pastor was the Reverend David Imrie, a Philadelphia, and educated at Canonsburg Academy, later known as Jefferson college and now Washington & Jefferson college.

The present pastor is Rev. J. Harold McCausland. Over the century and a half of its existence, Bethel U. P. has been a rock of righteousness in North Beaver township. From it have come young men and women who have served their community and their nation in war and peace.

Today it is a shining example of the permanence of religion in the life of America.

The sesquicentennial will undoubtedly attract hundreds of people both former parishioners and friends to the special services.

REV. J. C. ROSE IS GIVEN TRIBUTE

August 10 to 17 and following a week of travel, he will attend as an alternate delegate, the assembly of the World Council of Churches at Geneva, Switzerland, from August 22 to September 4.

Greetings were extended during the evening by Rev. A. E. Simon, representing the New Castle Ministerial Association; Dr. R. W. Gibson, General Secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the United Presbyterian church; and Carl Baldwin, clerk of sessions of the Second U. P. church, who presented Rev. and Mrs. Rose with a lovely gift. Dr. Clyde Myers, pastor of the Sharon U. P. church gave the principal address of the evening. The program was concluded in the auditorium with prayer by Willard George, former assistant pastor of the church, who will preside during the absence of Rev. Rose in Europe.

Among the members of Rev. Rose's family who were at the reception were his mother, Mrs. H. J. Rose, New Wilmington; his brother, Dr. Harry Rose, Akron; another brother, Rev. and Mrs. Robert D. Rose and two children, Springdale; Mrs. Joseph Rose, Neashnock Falls, and two sisters and brothers-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Grotendieck and Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCrum, all of New Castle.

The audience adjourned to the church dining rooms where refreshments were served.

Program Of Evening

The complete program presented is as follows:

Selections—Organ and Piano—Mrs. E. Crummer, Mrs. Julia Zimmerman, Mrs. M. E. Simon, representative, New Castle Ministerial association.

Remarks—Dr. R. W. Gibson, general secretary, Board of Christian Education.

Duet—Mrs. George Streicher, Miss Betty Smith.

Address—Dr. Clyde L. Myers, pastor, Second U. P. church.

Scripture Reading—Mrs. Solo.

Prayer—George Streicher.

Presentation—Carl Baldwin, clerk of sessions.

Closing Prayer—Willard George.

Outstanding Ministry

Since assuming the pastorate of the Second U. P. church in September of 1937, Rev. Rose has had an unusually active ministry with the church membership increasing from 700 to 1,100. He has had a vital part in the youth work of the church, developing it from every angle, with three youth groups in operation in the church. Besides preaching each Sunday morning and evening, he finds time to teach a mixed class of married and single men and women.

Apart from his busy work at the Second church, Rev. Rose is a committee member on religious education in the city schools under the New Castle Council of Churches; chairman of the budget committee of Beaver Valley Presbytery; member of the board of directors of the local Salvation Army; American Cancer Society board member; committee member on pageantry for the Sesquicentennial and an active Rotarian.

During the war years, Rev. Rose was a great comfort to the families who gave of their sons and daughters to serve over seas. He has been a great help and blessing to the community at large. Notable among his institutions is the heart to heart family topic sermons which attract hundreds to the church annually on Sunday evenings for the series.

New Wilmington Boy

Rearred in New Wilmington, Rev. Rose came from a devout family and a long line of ministers, attending public school there as well as Westminster college. Following his graduation from the college he entered seminary in Pittsburgh and following his ordination, he accepted a call to the White Oaks Spring church in Butler county. Serving there for a short time, he soon received the call of the Second U. P. church in this city which he accepted. He was a favorite with the congregation and young people from the beginning.

Extensive plans were laid for the youth recreation center to be built adjacent to the east side church, but shortage of critical materials during the war years prevented this project which will be advanced at a future time. Rev. Rose was instrumental in the raising of funds for this worthy project.

REV. J. H. McCUSAULD

picnic at noon. In the afternoon, Dr. Homer B. Tenderson, pastor of the Grove City United Presbyterian church, will speak on "God Has Been Good to Us."

Sunday morning, June 20, a communion service will be held made division superintendent at Indianapolis and held this post until 1915.

He served a number of divisions as superintendent and in 1917 he was brought to the eastern lines as superintendent of the Philadelphia division. In 1919 he was made superintendent of the Baltimore division and general superintendent of the Maryland district in 1921. In 1923 he was made general manager of the New York properties, and in 1928 was made senior vice president of the Central Railroad of New Jersey. He continued in this position until 1933 when he was elected president of the Western Union Telegraph company. In 1941 he was made division superintendent at Indianapolis and held this post until 1915.

President White is also Colonel White. In World War Two he was a colonel of the Transportation Corps and had charge of the Allegheny region. Since the government took over the railroads he is again acting in this capacity.

Started in Indiana

He started his railroad career as a telegrapher at Dana, Ind., April 17, 1900. From that he went to train dispatcher, in 1902, then chief train dispatcher at Indianapolis in 1908 and to chief clerk to the general superintendent in Cincinnati, O., in 1909. In 1910 he was made president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

His coming to New Castle on June 12 will be his first visit here as president of the road. Mr. Audino and his associates want to make the visit an auspicious one.

Old Timer Propounds Some Sesqui Reminders

(Contributed)

Thought this might interest some of the Sesqui people:
How many people in New Castle and Lawrence County today, remember the 1876 Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia?

How was it celebrated in New Castle? Was the Public Square paved at that time?

Do you remember the following:

The coal railway that brought coal to the coke ovens; the flour mill along the Neshannock; the cut nail mill; the wire nail mill; the old puddle mill; the new puddle mill; the rod mill; the glass factory at the bridge on Grant street; the man who drove the first auto in New Castle; the doctor who rode a high wheel bike; the real estate man who rode one with a small wheel in front; Croton Glass Works; the two New Castle boys who were expert roller skaters and gave exhibitions over the country; what was known as the hoodieburg and who was its pilot; the superintendent of schools who used the expression "All wool a yard wide and not run down at the heels?" What became of Joe Trax cannon?

Regarding eels caught in Lawrence County. Just above the old covered bridge where the glass factory put ashes in the river, a 12 year old boy was fishing. We lads were on the embankment watching him. He let out a yell, started toward us holding the pole and line, yelling, "Snake." He had a three foot eel on the line and was afraid to get it off, it gave us a good laugh. We never knew of eels having been caught in the Mahoning river, but a Mr. Johnson used to get one once in a while in the Shenango.

Some people do not know that fire clay mined in Union Township was used for years in New Castle mills or that iron ore was taken from the same township, but the deposit was not great enough for development. There is limestone in the township too, but not a great amount.

Guatemala, Central America, was conquered by the Spaniards in 1524. After three centuries of Spanish rule, when the vice-royalty of Guatemala included all that is now known as Central America, independence was proclaimed in 1821.

Really WASHES!

The BLACKSTONE is an AGITATOR WASHER! It uses the same proven, efficient, gentle washing action universally approved in the wringer washers. You can be certain that your clothes will be satisfactorily washed, unbroken and free of knots and tanglings. It really washes clothes clean!

Really RINSES!

Only BLACKSTONE offers a spin-dripping, double-action, agitated-rush rinsed. After the tub automatically rotates for rinsing, a complete change of clean water is introduced. As the agitator lessons dirt from the clothes, the water is automatically pumped from the tub to the top of the tub before the water is drained out, so it cannot be redeposited in the clean clothes. It really rinses!

Really SPIN DRIES!

The BLACKSTONE tub revolves with powerful centrifugal force — due to its size and speed of rotation — so that most clothes are dried so quickly that you can wear them again the same day. It is the best for ironing clothes — on the wringer, on the floor or over the fabrics — or for beach towels or bathrobes. The swift, harmless centrifugal action of the BLACKSTONE really spin-dries!

'DRY' KANSAS 'WET' KANSAS HOPE, Kans. — (INS) — Parched throats got a good wetting in bone-dry Kansas recently. A Missouri-Pacific railroad tank car carrying eight thousand gallons of California port wine was derailed and overturned near Hope. Within two hours, hundreds of Kansans from all parts of the county had converged on the wreck with everything from 10-gallon milk cans to tea cups. No one bothered a carload of wheat spilled on the ground. Kansas has plenty of wheat.

BIRTHRATE UPSWING LONDON.—(INS) — The birth rate in England and Wales last year was the highest in 23 years and infant mortality and still-births reached new low records. Birth-rate for the year was 20.5.

The Registrar-General's return revealed that the infant mortality rate at 41 per 1,000 related live births, was the lowest ever recorded.

Solemn Closing Of Novena Sunday Evening, 7:30, On Feast Of St. Anthony

Triduum services in conjunction with the solemn novena of St. Anthony are being held at St. Vitus church this evening, Friday and Saturday evening, and will close with solemn services Sunday evening, the Feast of St. Anthony. There will be only one service each evening, and it will be at 7:30 o'clock.

Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor and assistants, Rev. Fr. Albert M. Inteso, and Rev. Fr. V. Bertoine, will conduct the services.

All persons who made the novena are bound to attend the triduum in order to gain the indulgences. However, those who were unable to make the novena, are urged to attend the triduum services.

During the three day services confesses will be heard before and after services, and the devout will receive Holy Communion on Sunday, the Feast day of St. Anthony.

Sunday morning masses at St. Vitus church will be at 7 a. m. with a solemn high mass, at which time the lilies of St. Anthony will be blessed, by Fr. DeMita. They will be distributed at the other morning masses at 9 a. m., 10:30 a. m. and 12 o'clock noon. The Croton mass on Sunday will be at 9:30 a. m.

Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock the solemn closing of the novena will take place. The Papal blessing will be given by Father DeMita. The shrine of St. Anthony will be beautifully decorated with lilies on this occasion. Fr. DeMita, the pastor, urges all devotees to attend the services and offer their prayers. More than ever prayers are needed for guidance and to be offered for a lasting peace in the world today. As in other years, a large crowd is expected for services each evening.

SWING LOBBY RESUMES
Swing Lobby will resume activities at Rainbow terrace, Cascade park, Friday night, and will operate twice weekly, Monday and Friday nights, according to General Chairman Cecil F. Suber. So far no successor to the late Mrs. Besse Clark, who was in charge of the recreation center, has been named.

Columbia River Rising Again

Flood Menace In Oregon Is Not Ended: Dikes Are Being Strengthened

PORLTAND, Ore., June 10.—(INS) The Columbia river was rising again today as thousands of civilians and soldiers strove to strengthen dikes that have been classed as "critical" for several days.

The Red Cross, meanwhile, issued a list of 121 former Vanport residents about whom it is concerned. It made clear that it does not consider them dead or missing, however.

The known death toll in the flood stood at 31, and property damage is climbing steadily after passing the 100 million dollar mark.

At the same time a cloudburst poured torrents of water on an area southwest of Spokane, Wash.

Flood experts warned that the Columbia river is riding downstream from Grand Coulee dam, and the weather bureau forecast that the middle Columbia will continue to rise slowly for the next three days.

Father Of Eight Dies Of Injuries

HARRISBURG, June 10.—(INS)

Edward Hostetter, 55, of Blain, Perry County, died today in Harrisburg hospital of injuries suffered in an automobile accident Tuesday while returning from a fishing trip to Delaware.

Hostetter, father of eight children, died of a fractured skull, according to Coroner S. J. Roberts. He was one of four fishermen injured when their automobile crashed into a tree near Landisburg.

Paul McKeehan, 30, reportedly driver of the car, was in "critical" condition at Carlisle hospital. Dean Thomas was in "satisfactory" condition at Harrisburg hospital, while the fourth man, Emory Baker, was released after hospital treatment. All are residents of Blain.

Maxine Taylor
Named Director
Of YWCA Camp

Local Girl To Direct Summer Activities At Camp East Brook, Starting June 21

Camp committee of the Y. W. C. A.'s Camp East Brook announces that Miss Maxine Taylor, daughter of Mrs. Rachel P. Taylor, 122 East street, has been secured as director of the camp for the summer camp period.

Miss Taylor is returning to a place where she has spent many happy days herself as a camper and knows all the thing that help to make a period at the camp one of the pleasant memories of one's girlhood.

The Y. W. C. A. is always glad when one of its former campers can return as a counselor or director and was particularly fortunate in securing Miss Taylor as the director for the season of '48.

Allegheny College Graduate

Miss Taylor is a New Castle girl, having been born here, attending schools and graduating from New Castle Senior High in 1944. She attended Allegheny college and received her B. A. degree in '47, completing her college work in three years and receiving outstanding honors.

Being very active, her extra curriculars in both high school and college were many, the Allegheny Singers and varsity debating being only two of her college activities.

On Thursday Miss Taylor is completing a year's work at the Fletcher School of Law and Diplomacy at Medford, Mass., and will receive her master's degree on June 20.

Her educational background may not alone make her a good camp director, however her experience and credentials in camping are as complete.

Previous Camp Experience

Her first camp experience was at Camp East Brook, where she spent many summers. From there she went with the Girl Scouts of New Castle, she spent two summers at Julia Crowell, Cleveland camp for girls, and two summers were spent at the Hathaway Corporation camp in Connecticut.

Miss Taylor is a worker in every way and has always, even with her heavy college curriculum, been employed and active in some work outside of the prescribed college work.

East Brook camp is beautifully located as far as natural scenery is concerned. The buildings are colonial in style with spacious porches and large sleeping quarters. The cottage and large dining room with their large open fireplaces and a well equipped kitchen make it the ideal spot for young summer campers.

The first camp period, opening on Monday, June 21, is almost filled to capacity. The other periods open July 5 and July 19.

Reservations may be made by calling the Y. W. C. A. office.

AUTO CLUB URGES PEDESTRIANS TO AID CURB ACCIDENTS

PHILADELPHIA, June 10.—(INS)—The Keystone Automobile club urges pedestrians to cooperate with motorists for their own safety.

Edward P. Curran, safety director of the club, said pedestrian highway casualties at night usually show a marked increase at this time of the year. This is accounted for by the fact that highway use—both pedestrian and vehicular—surges upward in the spring and summer.

The safety director states: "The walker who is facing traffic can avoid danger under such conditions by the simple expedient of stepping off the roadway. The walker with his back to approaching headlights literally bets his life that the motorist will see him in time to avoid running him down."

The annual Indian sun dance, which is staged each year in southern Idaho by Fort Hall Indian reservation, home of 1,800 Bannock and Shoshone Indians, attracts hundreds of spectators each year.

Barons Nip Chiefs Twice, Nightcap Goes 14 Innings

The New Castle Chiefs and the Uniontown Coal Barons, of the Mid-Atlantic league, were late sleepers today, following their two wins small hours double-header, last night that saw the visitors win the first game, a seven-inning affair, 9 to 6, and also the second game, a marathon of 14-innings, 9 to 7 thanks to young Bob Williams.

Mr. Williams, the Barons' shortstop, had himself a large evening, collecting six hits in ten trips to the plate in the two games, his two early homers and 14th-inning double, being deciding factors. His record for the night, two single, two doubles, two home runs.

More Potent Bats

They might have been playing yet had Williams not hit that double in the 14th. The Chiefs a vastly improved ball club battled tooth and nail, lacking in only one thing, hitting power. The Chiefs left 16 men stranded on the paths in the night-game second game. In the first game New Castle had eight men left.

Errors didn't lose for the Chiefs last night, the defense showing much better than usual. New Castle had but three errors in the two games. Uniontown had ten, on which the Chiefs failed to capitalize.

Riebessell-Wallace Debut

New Castle unfolded two new hurlers last night in the twin bill—George Riebessell, of Geneva, N. Y., hurling the first game, until chased by Uniontown's booming bats in the sixth inning, with Pat Devlin taking over. Riebessell allowed seven hits and five runs in his five inning stint, failing to retire a batter in the sixth.

Uniontown's starting hurler John Higgins was shelled out in the fifth, with Al Rolke, taking over and getting credit for the win, allowing but one hit the remainder of the abbreviated game.

Ed Wallace late of Miami Beach, Florida, started the second game and was breezing along nicely until the 12th when he tired and Roger Vallancourt took up the chucking chores and got credit for the loss, pitching the final two innings.

Wallace Fans II

Both Riebessell and Wallace are going to do all right here, after they get acclimated. Both boys showed a world of stuff at times and will be tough to beat with a little more Mid-Atlantic league experience, which is developing into a hitters league. Wallace fanned 11 batters in the 12 innings he worked.

John Fitt, the shortstop, led the locals in the two games with four hits in ten trips. Walt Mahoney was second best hitter with three hits in nine trips. The Chiefs collected 17 hits in the two games, against Uniontown's 25.

Pytlak Catches

Manager Frankie Pytlak of the Chiefs caught the first game and although not in shape yet, did a regular Pytlak job, the best, showing signs of his big league experience. Bob Horner, the newly acquired catcher from Youngstown Colts, did a fine receiving job in the second game.

The games were not without their usual amount of umpire bickering. Manager Billy Mongiello, of the Barons, managing to get himself chased in the late innings of the night-cap along with one other player, who Umpire Stupi said was "needling" him from the bench. Glenn Burns, the Chiefs right-fielder, was banished in the seventh for taking back.

Over 500 See Games

The 500 fans sat through most of the long 21 innings and gave the Chiefs lots of encouragement by their applause. Hugh Grimeshaw

Williams-Jack

Bout Arranged

PHILADELPHIA, June 10. (INS)—Promoter Herman Light announced Wednesday that light-weight champion Ike Williams will defend his title against Beau Jack at Shibe park in Philadelphia on July 12.

The boxers signed for the title bout on Monday, but choice of the scene for the match was undecided until Wednesday.

Taylor said Shibe park was selected instead of municipal stadium because of the ball park's more central location.

Shibe park is the home grounds of the Philadelphia Athletics and Phillies.

The fight will give Jack his third shot at the lightweight crown which has twice worn himself.

The two colored battlers will exchange blows over a 15-round route.

Court House

State Highway Turns Back Roads

Notifies Supervisors Of Three Townships Old 422 Goes Back To Them

OTHER EVENTS IN COURT HOUSE

Mahoning, Union and Pulaski township supervisors have been notified by the state highway department that old 422 is being turned back to them.

When the new stretch of 422 was built it was cut through new territory leaving about nine miles of the old highway abandoned insofar as through traffic was concerned.

The supervisors are disturbed over the idea but as yet nothing has been done. It means the townships must maintain the old highway.

ONE LESS CASE

Another case was dropped from the trial list Wednesday when William Nygard pleaded guilty to larceny and was sentenced to three to six months in the county jail. He was also fined $1 and costs. This plea and that of William Henry Lathrop reduces the trial list and it is likely there will be other pleas.

Thaddeus Alumni Picnic To Take Place On Friday

Tenth Annual Event Promises To Be Gala Affair At Cascade Park (Weather Permitting)

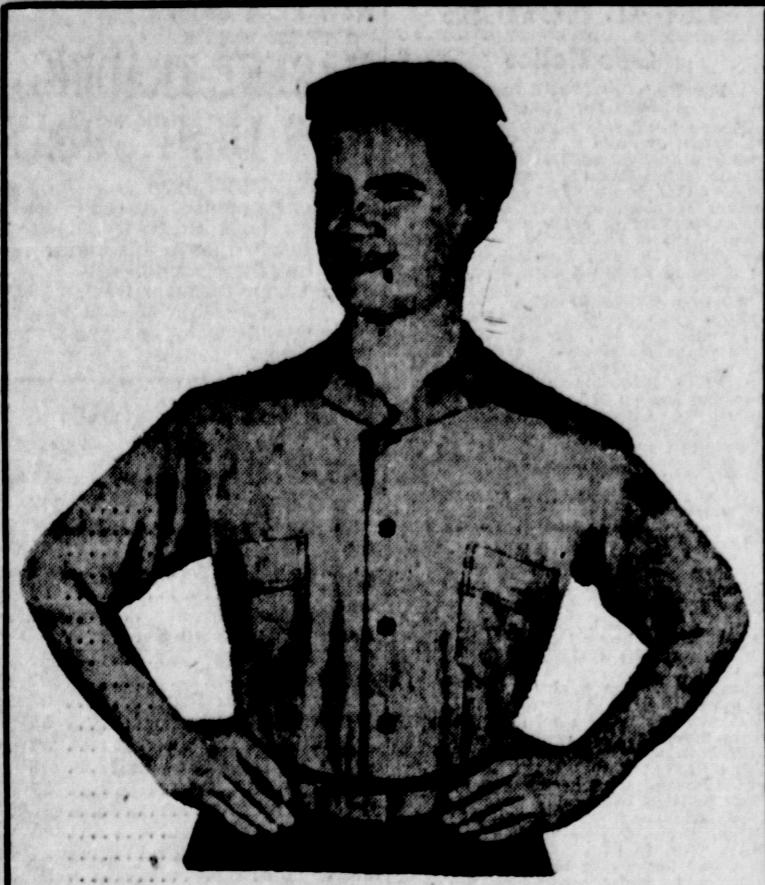

If the weatherman gives his approval, one of the best reunions of the Thaddeus Stevens Alumni association in its 10 years history should take place Friday afternoon and evening at Cascade Park.

The 10th annual reunion of the association is scheduled to get underway at two p. m. with fun, food and frolic planned for all who attend. A great basket and tureen picnic dinner is planned at 6:30 p. m. following an afternoon that promises to be filled with surprises and entertainment for all. The program of games and contests will officially get underway at three p. m., with many beautiful prizes given by local merchants to be presented to the winner of each event. A beauty contest is scheduled during the time of merrymaking.

Following the dinner in the grove the picnickers will move to the site of the old fun house, where a mystery person is to be identified. Climaxing feature of the evening is the truth and consequences contest to be conducted by Paul McGaffie.

The committee on arrangements for the gala event is headed by William Druschel, president.

In 1947, 12,000,000 tons of shipping used the docks at Southampton, England, according to British railways.
